Market Review

The FBM EMAS Shariah Index declined 2.51% in February, with the best performing sectors were Transportations, Energy, Properties and Constructions. Concerns over increasing inflation in the US pushed investors to be more cautious in February. The neutral Budget 2023 also did not have the positive push factor to the domestic market. The recent 4Q22 corporate results announcement were generally neutral, where misses-to-beats ratio were balanced as there were lower earnings disappointments on a quarter-on-quarter basis.
